

West to Talk With Reds on Berlin Issue

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

PARIS (AP)—The way lay open today for the United States to lead the West's quest for a Berlin bargain with the Soviet Union—but only on condition the Russians make major modifications in their policy.

A high U.S. source said the recent public statements of Soviet leaders do not lend an acceptable basis for negotiations.

President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan got the approval of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign ministers to chart a cautious course for the West's next move.

Kennedy and Macmillan will meet in Bermuda Dec. 20 and 21. They are expected to draft a directive that will send the U.S. ambassador in Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson, to see Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko—and perhaps Premier Khrushchev himself—to explore prospects of a compromise on Berlin.

As foreign, finance and defense ministers of the 15-nation Atlantic alliance traveled home, a high French official unfolded the intriguing drama of the Allied duel over Berlin policy played out behind the sedate scenes of the three-day parley.

This is the story as the Frenchman gave it:

France opposed talks with the Russians on grounds that Khrushchev, who manufactured the Berlin crisis, would see it as weakness. Almost all the other Allies favored negotiations, fearing that the crisis in the divided city could become a flashpoint of possible nuclear war.

Foreign ministers of the four big Western powers directly concerned—the United States, Britain, France and West Germany—thrashed the matter out in two days of intensive talking Monday and Tuesday. The French found themselves isolated.

When the NATO Council began its meeting Wednesday the subject was discussed at length again, for most of the day. The same pattern emerged—France was odd man out. The ministers ordered their experts to try to reconcile the conflicting viewpoints.

They worked at the job nonstop for 13 hours, producing draft after draft. Finally agreement was arrived at on a brief passage fitted into a general communique of the NATO conference, which totaled about 1,900 words.

The whole communique, with its 14 points, was placed before the ministers Friday.

The Berlin formula, neatly divided into two parts, said: "The council heard statements on Berlin by the foreign ministers of the countries most directly concerned, and was informed of the intention to resume diplomatic contacts with the Soviet Union, in accordance with the aims which the West is pursuing for the maintenance of world peace and in the hope that these contacts might serve to determine whether a basis for negotiation could be found."

"Their colleagues approved the assumption of diplomatic contacts and expressed the hope that a negotiated settlement could be achieved. After full discussion of the situation, the council agreed that the alliance must continue on its resolute course, combining strength and firmness of purpose with a readiness to seek solutions by peaceful means."

HOLE IN THE WALL—The Friedrichstrasse crossing point, the only border crossing point between East and West Berlin for use by non-Germans, is now just a tiny bit of open space in the Communist-built wall dividing the city. That wall has now been extended nearly all the way across the thoroughfare. A car navigates the single-lane gap as the workmen in background finish a maze to slow traffic. East German troops stand in the foreground.

Little Delay on Pay Checks

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Some 1,200 state employees, who customarily would receive their semi-monthly checks today, apparently will have to wait until Monday to be paid.

State Auditor Jimmie Jones said the check writing machine broke down last Tuesday, and a new part hadn't arrived.

Jones' office used a similar machine at the Welfare Department for some of the state checks but had to quit this because the Welfare Department needed the machine.

Jones said he feared the new part wouldn't get here from Philadelphia until Monday. It couldn't be sent by air because of bad weather in the East and was shipped by rail, he said.

Arkansan to Be a Space Traveler

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first class of space test pilots being graduated by the Air Force today includes an Arkansan.

Of the five graduates of the Aerospace Research Pilot School at Wards Air Force Base, Calif., only one, Capt. James A. McMurray of Jackson, Mich., will go into the test pool from which future space pilots will be selected.

The other four, including Maj. Thomas V. McElmurray of Batesville, Ark., will become professors of aerospace for the Air Force.

McElmurray, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McElmurray of Batesville, graduated from Batesville High School in 1939 and holds degrees from Alabama and Michigan universities.

A veteran pilot, McElmurray flew 131 combat missions during World War II and 22 missions during the Korean conflict.

Baton Rouge March Brings an Arrest

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Police today arrested Boone Moore, 20, chairman of the Baton Rouge unit of the Congress of Racial Equality, for obstructing traffic as an estimated 2,500 Negroes marched toward downtown Baton Rouge.

The Negro student leader was arrested on Scenic Highway near the industrial complex north of the city as Negroes traveled on foot and by all sorts of transportation for a meeting at the jail to protest the arrest of 23 Negroes.

Buses and cars shuttled the Negroes to the old Capitol area. As the Negroes arrived they joined ranks of three and four and marched around the building.

Police had all reserves called out for emergency use. Tear gas and dogs were readied. Fire trucks stood near the courthouse, ready to turn on hoses.

A police spokesman said there was no law to cover any such demonstration and there was no reason the Negroes couldn't assemble at the courthouse if they didn't obstruct traffic or do something else out of line.

Of All Christmas Decorations Mistletoe Is the Oldest and Has Most Interesting History

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Everywhere you go there are Christmas decorations, for the glorious commemoration of our Lord's birth is only nine days away. Of all these traditional decorations one of the oldest is the mistletoe, and it has an interesting history.

The Romans considered it a symbol of hope and peace, and for that reason Christians chose it as symbolic of this season. If a Roman soldier met his enemy under mistletoe, a temporary truce was declared. They dropped their weapons and kissed; some think that is how kissing under the mistletoe originated.

Others will declare that the reason for the custom is all because a Norse goddess Frigg was hung with mistletoe and kiss each person who passed under it to remind them that love is stronger than death.

The Druids believed the mistletoe was sacred and made a ritual out of gathering it. Priests wore white, flowing robes when they gathered the parasite with white berries. Golden sickles, which were not used for any other purpose, were carried, and the first new growth of mistletoe had to be cut by the light of a full moon.

Mistletoe was so sacred to these ancient priests that they would not allow it to touch the ground. To this day there is a superstition that it is unlucky for the mistletoe to fall to the floor, probably stemming from the time of the Druids.

Long ago some European people used the little berries as a cure-all. Mixed with wax to soothe ulcers and sores or used in a drink for other sicknesses, this magic elixir was even taken internally sometimes for madness. Paracelsus was treated with the juice of it extracted from fresh wood that had been bruised.

With such wide medicinal usage of the mistletoe, it was only natural that the same plant was used by many people for charms and potions. A brew of mistletoe was thought to promote fertility. Pieces of the wood were worn around the neck to ward off diseases.

One of the legends associated with the mistletoe concerns the Norse goddess we mentioned earlier. It seems that Frigg had a son, Baldur, who feared the wicked Loki. Frigg told him not to be afraid, and she went to every dangerous thing in the world, from fire to disease to wild animals, and made them promise not to harm Baldur.

Never dreaming there was anything harmful about the mistletoe, she did not demand such a promise from that plant. Loki learned of this and decided to take advantage of it. He made a dart out of the wood from the mistletoe and used it to kill Baldur.

Frigg began to cry and the white berries are symbolic of her tears, the story goes. Her tears melted the hearts of the wicked ones, and Baldur was restored to life.

That is why Frigg said love is stronger than death.

$52 Million Available for Roads

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Highway Commission announced today that $52.8 million in federal matching funds will be available for road work in Arkansas in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

This is $12.1 million more than the federal aid allotment for the current fiscal year.

Commission chairman Harry Parkin said the highway department did not know at this time old war, if enough state money would be available to match next year's as American diplomats, acting on Continued on Page Two

Annual Star Banquet for Newsboys of All Papers to Be Held Tuesday Night

Hope Star's annual Christmas dinner for newsboys of all daily papers circulating in the Hope trade area will be held at 7:30 Tuesday night, December 19.

Distributors of other dailies in Hope, Fulton, Washington, Emmet, and Prescott, are asked to report to The Star office not later than Monday how many white and how many Negro carriers expect to attend.

Dinner for the white carriers will be held in the main banquet room of Diamond Cafe with Leonard Ellis, local insurance manager and former managing editor and circulation manager of The Star, making the annual address.

Negro carriers will be dined by one of the Negro church organizations, under arrangements being made by George (Boots) Smith, Jr., Star pressman, with the speaker to be announced. Negro carriers will meet at The Star Building at 7:30 and be taken to the dining place.

Missouri Rural Areas Hit by Flu

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Flu virus that hit rural areas in Missouri and Illinois this week struck metropolitan St. Louis Thursday. Some schools reported 30 per cent of their pupils absent.

Attempts by medical schools at St. Louis and Washington universities to identify the virus have been unsuccessful.

Schools at Potosi, Mo., about 55 miles south of St. Louis, have been closed all week. Flu claimed about 33 per cent of the school system's 2,400 pupils. Other outbreaks were reported at Lutesville, Mo., 65 miles southeast of Potosi; and Wolf Lake, Ill., about 20 miles east of Lutesville.

The U.S. Public Health Service said the virus epidemic recorded was on an island off Alaska.

Dorothy Is Still Getting Mail Daily

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—People the world over still remember Dorothy Ridgeway.

She's the girl from Hardy, Va., who gained worldwide attention last Christmas when a mysterious message got on a Weather Bureau teletype saying Dorothy was dying of bone cancer and liked Christmas cards.

Then the mail came—stacks of it.

Mail still comes to the youngster, but not in the amounts which at one time all but covered up the small post office at Hardy.

Dorothy now lives in Roanoke. Her mail, according to Mrs. C. E. Barton, Hardy postmaster, averages about two dozen pieces daily and comes from throughout the United States and from various points of the globe.

Dorothy, now 10, is a pupil at Melrose Elementary School. According to her father, she has missed only two days of school thus far and appears to be "doing well."

Her disease, known as Schuller-Christian disease, is characterized by fatty deposits in the bones.

Nike-Zeus Is Closer to Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army's Nike-Zeus antimissile project is closer than ever to the production stage. But it may not make it again this year—perhaps because of a budget squeeze.

President Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara agreed less than three weeks ago that Congress should be asked for money to start preparing for production of the missile killer system which is still being tested.

Last weekend, budget and defense authorities again reviewed the military requests for next year.

Then two days ago, sources said, Army officials received informal word that tooling-up money for the Nike-Zeus may not be included when the budget goes to Congress next month.

Nobody would comment for the record.

The Army has spent more than a billion dollars since 1957 to perfect the Nike-Zeus, which would be employed to protect the nation's key cities and strategic bases.

It has been estimated a fully operational antimissile defense would cost at least $8 billion.

Just Thursday a Nike-Zeus rocket scored a fourth straight success in a flight planned as this morning to Johnson, who is longest to date. It shut out over in Texas for the funeral of an aunt and expects to remain in home state this weekend.

Johnson to Be Kept Posted

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy arranged today for Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson to be kept posted "on all matters of importance" while Kennedy is away on his trip to Latin America.

Both Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara are attending conferences in Paris through the weekend. Officials said this was a factor in announcing special arrangements for Johnson to receive frequent briefings during this period.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said "special communications have been set up so that he (Johnson) can be in touch when needed with the Defense Department, the State Department, and the White House."

Salinger said Kennedy talked over this morning to Johnson, who is longest to date. It shut out over in Texas for the funeral of an aunt and expects to remain in home state this weekend.

U.S. Prestige Soars, Chinese UN Bid Fails

BY TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.S. prestige in the United Nations soared today with the stunning defeat of a Soviet-led attempt to seat Communist China in place of Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists.

The General Assembly's 48-36 rebuff of Peking's bid was hailed as a victory for the United States which finally met the 10-year-old China issue head-on in a test of strength with the Soviet Union.

The fact that only 36 nations voted for Red China surprised many delegates. It was obviously less than anticipated by the United States, which had sought to block the Communists with its proposal making China seating "an important question" requiring a two-thirds vote for adoption.

The Reds actually fell more than a dozen votes short of even a simple majority. Twenty countries abstained from voting.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson declared the result had reinforced Nationalist China's long-disputed right to hold its seat in the United Nations. Stevenson said he was "gratified" by the outcome of the first showdown on the seating question since the Communists took over the China mainland in 1949.

But Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin said the vote showed many nations felt the China problem "should be solved immediately and radically."

"We are convinced," Zorin said, "that many who were compelled to vote against or abstain on this (Soviet) resolution will vote in favor at the next session."

Delegates predicted, however, that the Communists would have to wait a long time to see Peking get the China seat. They pointed out that the thumping 61-34 vote for the decision requiring two-thirds approval of any change in the seating had set a precedent that would be difficult to overturn.

Britain voted with the United States on the two-thirds question, but swung with Russia on the proposal to seat Red China. France stayed with the United States throughout the balloting.

Finland, Denmark and Iceland, three Scandinavian countries that have relations with Peking, voted to seat the Communists. Fifteen nations from Asia and Africa also voted for Red China.

Voting with the United States were most of the countries of Western Europe. So did all the Latin-American nations except Cuba.

Chokes to Death Attacking Fox

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Flayden Cooper of Concord choked a fox to death after the possibly-rabid animal attacked him Thursday night.

The 45-year-old Cooper was in his front yard talking to a neighbor when the fox leaped at him. The animal sank its teeth in Cooper's low lip and chin and held on until Cooper choked it.

Cooper was given a shot for tetanus and what may be the first of a series of anti-rabies shots at a Batesville hospital.

The animal's head was sent to Little Rock for a laboratory examination to determine if the fox was rabid.

Concord is in Cleburne County about 15 miles southwest of Batesville.

Wild Robbers Spray Bank, Guard Killed

NEW YORK (AP)—Two robbers, one described as a wild, trigger-happy tommy gunner, invaded a Brooklyn bank today and killed a guard, sprayed the walls with bullets and fled with an undetermined amount of money.

They also exchanged shots with a foot patrolman who raced to the scene, Salvatore Accardi. A bullet from the robbers struck the officer's shield and knocked him through a glass door, causing cuts on his leg and wrist.

Hospital attaches said later that the barge saved the officer's life by deflecting the bullet.

The holdup took place at a branch of the Lafayette National Bank, at 4300 Kings Highway.

The robbers burst into the bank, herded customers and employees against the wall and started shooting.

Guard Henry A. Kraus, 53, was killed instantly.

Bank manager John Condon described the scene this way: "There were about a dozen customers in the bank at the time. All were herded against the wall by the man with the machine gun. They ordered a number of bank employees against the wall. 'Mr. Kraus, our guard, didn't have a chance. The wild man with the machine gun began throwing lead into him before the guard had a chance to do anything.'"

The handis were said to have escaped in a white automobile. One was described as a Negro, the other white, and both about 35 years old.

A bank official said the branch had a number of payrolls on hand.

JFK Visiting Nations of Many Wars

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's goodwill trip to Colombia and Venezuela is a journey to lands hard for Americans to imagine.

Venezuela has had about two honest elections in its history and more than 20 constitutions. For the rest of the time this country of seven million people has lived under dictators, some of them savage.

Neighboring Colombia, with about 14 million people, has had more than 20 constitutions, more than 20 civil wars. The dictatorships were relatively few but some were brutal. For Colombians elections have real significance.

Right now both countries have fairly middle-road presidents. Romulo Betancourt in Venezuela and Alberto Lleras Camargo in Colombia.

Betancourt has been a punching bag for Castroites and Communists — both groups consider him their chief enemy in Latin America—and for extreme rightists who want the get-rich-days dictatorship back.

Betancourt's election in 1959 was one of the two honest ones. "The first was in 1947 when Romulo Gallegos was chosen president but lasted only 10 months. A military junta threw him out."

In those 11 years Venezuela had some of its worst dictatorship, most notoriously under the brutal Marcos Perez Jimenez whose graft-ridden regime loaded the jails with political prisoners.

The fact that President Eisenhower presented him with the Legion of Merit didn't sit well with Venezuelans who got so fed up that the various political parties joined forces with the army and navy to throw him out in 1958.

Betancourt is trying to cope with Venezuela's ancient problem.

Caracas Tense Waiting for the Kennedys

By MORRIS ROSENBERG

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Swarming with security agents, this capital was tense and excited today as thousands massed to greet President Kennedy on his good-will weekend visit to Latin America in a show of faith in his Alliance for Progress program.

The President, accompanied by his wife, was to fly from San Juan, Puerto Rico, after getting an enthusiastic reception on the first stop of his Latin-American tour.

Thousands of heavily armed steel-helmeted troops guarded the routes expected to be traveled by the President during his 24-hour Venezuelan stopover. The Venezuelan air force banned all aircraft from flying over the Caracas area without special permission during Kennedy's stay.

Kennedy's good-will trip, aimed at boosting his $20 billion Alliance for Progress program for Latin America, brought a flare-up in the terrorism campaign led by Communists and pro-Castroites opposed to the government of President Romulo Betancourt and to its friendship with the United States.

But the vast majority of the capital's 1,330,000 residents appeared set on honoring the visitors from the United States.

Local dignitaries were on hand well in advance of the arrival of Kennedy's big Air Force jet plane at Maiquetia Airport. Cabinet members and other high officials reserved places to the right of the runway arrival area while U.S. Embassy officials were stationed on the left.

Midnight passed with an absence of violent terrorist acts in the capital for the first time in many evenings. Three youngsters burned an American flag in the only incident.

But across the country in the city of Maracaibo police broke up an attempt by extremists to dynamite installations there. Maracaibo had been stripped of many of its security forces who were sent to Caracas to bolster garrisons in the capital.

Informed sources said the government had called out 400 uniformed police, 1,500 plainclothesmen and several thousand soldiers to guard Caracas until Kennedy departs early Sunday for Bogota, Colombia, the second and last Latin-American nation he will visit before returning to Washington.

UA Thinks Population Loss Halted

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A national publication's prediction that Arkansas' population would decline two per cent during the current decade is contrary to the forecast of the University of Arkansas Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

Nation's Business, a monthly publication of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, says in its December issue that both Arkansas and West Virginia would lose population during the 1960-70 period.

The university's research bureau has reported it believes the state's population loss has stopped.

The article, written by Fred D. Lindsey, formerly of Newton County, Ark., now a statistician for the U.S. business organization, said all other states should share in an estimated 30 million population growth.

Lindsey, in a letter to the Pine Bluff Commercial, said he based his estimates on Arkansas population statistics between 1940 and 1960 when the state lost 2 and 8.5 per cent of its population during both decades, respectively.

"Until Arkansas, as well as other midwestern states, develops additional employment opportunities, one of its principal exports will be its young people," Lindsey told the newspaper.

Thinks JFK Doing Better Than Figured

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Allan Shivers, former Democratic governor of Texas, says America is faced with danger from without and within, "and we are not being either traitors or obstructionists when we mention it."

In a speech to the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting Thursday night Shivers said President Kennedy "is doing better than I thought he would" in 1960 when Shivers backed Richard Nixon for the presidency.

But the President "should tell the people not only what the crisis is, but what he's going to do about it," Shivers said. And the President should take an even stronger hand in foreign affairs, he added.

Shivers was among the first Democrats to back the Republican ticket in the 1960 presidential election. In answer to a newsman's question in a news conference Thursday, he said Texas is growing in the direction of a two-party state, and he thinks that's good.

Shivers noted that two Republicans would serve in the Texas Legislature in the coming session. They are the first in a number of years. And Republican John Tower was recently elected senator from Texas.

The ex-governor got onto the "danger within" subject by quoting President Kennedy as saying at Los Angeles that the real danger to the United States comes from without, not within.

"If the President meant to say that," Shivers said, "it shows that he, too, needs some education on the 'dangers within.'"

Shivers said Russia got atomic secrets by stealing American plans and that "the Cuban fiasco was homegrown. So was the one in Laos. And so is the one that seems to be developing over South Vietnam."

President Kennedy's orders, took a peace-making role evidently envisaging a meeting of Katanga President Moise Tshombe and Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula, for a general settlement of the Katanga question.

Both sides had consolidated their positions in the night. A Katanga plane bombed the U.N.-held Elisabethville airport in the third such raid since the outset of the shooting. The plane cut its engines and glided in silently to make the attack.

Perhaps referring to the preliminary maneuvers, a U.N. spokesman in New York said U.N. forces launched a major operation against Katanga forces in Elisabethville Thursday night and its first objective was successfully achieved. A message received at U.N. headquarters said "we suffered no casualties."

Accompanying the battle were these developments elsewhere: U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion in Leopoldville—seat of the U.N. Command and the Congo's central government—to do everything he could to arrange for negotiation of differences between the hostile Congolese factions.

However, diplomats in New York expressed belief shooting would persist for a while despite Kennedy's intervention.

U.N. sources predicted Kennedy would back up U.N. Acting Secretary-General U. Thant in his determination to press the military action until Tshombe agreed to negotiate in good faith for a unified Congo.

Belgian Girl in Danger of Being Typed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Monique Van Vooren, a blonde Belgian bombshell who has done very nicely as a supperclub chanteuse and foil for some top comedians, is currently engaged in fighting that old demon, type-casting.

This is a complicated process, involving a determined effort to eliminate her French—or Belgian—accent and to find parts remote from characters which could also be played by, for example, the Gabor girls, Jayne Mansfield and, once upon a time, Fifi D'Orsay.

"If you're identified with France," complained Miss Van Vooren, "and have a pretty face, you are always in comedy, always the foil for a comedian. If you can lose the French accent, you can do almost anything."

At the moment, Miss Van Vooren's accent still strongly suggests the land of her nativity and with her pale hair and svelte figure she is far from inconspicuous. But on Sunday night, in NBC's "Show of the Week" series, she will play a straight dramatic, non-comedy, non-singing role. She will, in fact, play a spy of the Mata Hari type, in glasses and a dark wig, in a drama called "Trick or Treason."

Monique spent four bitter, hungry years as a child in Brussels when the Germans occupied Belgium during World War II, but knew little of the glamorous side of war beloved by TV script writers.

"We suffered a lot, and those of us who were growing up had no youth as you see it in this country now," she reflected. "Even to this day I find I cannot throw away a stale piece of bread."

Sunday: "20th Century," CBS, 6-6:30—film biography on the late Wendell L. Willkie; "Met the Press," NBC, 6-6:30 — George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, guest; Ed Sullivan Show, CBS, 8-9 — Louis Armstrong and Duke Ellington perform together for the first time.

Seven Rescued From Flying Boat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Seven persons who had clung through the night to a flying boat, tossed by choppy seas, were rescued today by the tug Maggie after a quick run out of Nassau.

The Coast Guard reported that all seven appeared to be all right. The plane, a converted Navy PBV flying boat, was taken in tow by the Maggie.

Crippled by engine trouble, the PBV was ditched in reef-cluttered Atlantic waters 65 miles south of Nassau Thursday night.

A Florida business associate said the plane took A. Alex Shuford, president of Shuford Mills of Hickory, N.C.; Hal Simms, president and general manager of the Royal Crown Bottling Co. of Hickory; and several other persons from Orlando, Fla., to Caracas, Venezuela, Friday.

Conway Kittredge of Orlando, the associate, said he assumed the same party was aboard on the return flight.

The pilot was identified as Joe Brannock of Hickory, N.C.

Can a Woman Fall In Love Twice?

By HELEN WOREN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: For three years I have been a patient in a tuberculosis sanatorium. Before I came here, I was in love with Ralph, who was four years older than I. At that time, I was 21.

Although he had often said he loved me, he hadn't proposed when I became ill. For several months after I came to the hospital, he was very devoted, visiting me often. Soon, however, the attention ceased and I heard nothing further from him.

A year later I became interested in another patient, whom I shall call Fred. We have lots in common, and became very good friends.

Now I am about to go home. Fred has asked me to marry him when he is discharged, which will be a few months. My problem is that Ralph has learned I am going home, and has written a long letter begging me to take up where we left off. I'm not sure of my feelings for him now. I loved him once, but the feeling seems to be gone.

I have heard that love comes only once in a lifetime. I think that's false. I did love Ralph and know I love Fred now. I would have an easier life with Ralph, but I prefer the struggle with Fred.

Dear L. A.: You need a better perspective on the matter, which you will get by going home, then taking a good look at the situation. Being away from both men for a while, especially in your home, will make things much clearer to you.

Ralph seems to be a fair-weather friend who isn't up to coping with ailing people. Since your health may never be robust again, this is a consideration you cannot ignore. If he failed you once, he'll do it again.

Fred seems a much more congenial person for you, is in a better position to understand whatever restrictions you must observe in the future, and will certainly be more sympathetic. Life with an understanding husband is worth the loss of a few material things.

It's an absurd contention that one can love only once in a lifetime. Few people are married to the high-school sweethearts that once were the center around which the world revolved. Most folks are in love three and four times before the one and only comes along.

Dear Helen: I am very fond of a certain girl, but her mother presents a problem. She has a habit of swearing at everything and anything—the children, her husband, neighbors, even the radio. She's a nice person otherwise, but I know this habit bothers her family. Can anything be done to

Crop Duster Dies in Crash

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP)—A crop duster pilot was killed Thursday night while trying to aid victims of a two-car crash near here.

William Edward Pruett, 36, Memphis, died of chest injuries received when he was hit by a third car that crashed into one of the wrecked autos.

Hopper said no charges had been filed.

To Protest Reduction of Guards

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he would protest any effort by the federal government to reduce the size of Arkansas' National Guard and reserve strength.

An announcement from Washington Wednesday indicated the Kennedy administration might try to eliminate 8 or 10 National Guard and reserve divisions over the country.

Faubus said such a cut would remove 2,000 men from the Arkansas Guard.

The last time an effort was made to cut the Guard, Faubus said, state governors were unanimous in opposition to it.

Faubus said he felt congressmen would oppose the move, regardless of party affiliation. "I doubt if anything will be done about it."

The governor said he would write a letter of protest to Kennedy.

"I know the theory behind these plans," Faubus said. "They say the Guardsmen are in poor condition, are not immediately ready for combat and would not be effective. Well, let me tell you something. The same can be said about the Army regulars. They sit around the posts and the PX's and are soft."

"They have to step up the regular Army and get it ready for combat. The same thing could be done with the Guard. Let them live at home where they are cheaper to maintain."

Fall Is Fatal

HELENA, Ark. (AP) — Forrest Mitchell Jr., 18, of Wynne, fell from a tree while deer hunting Thursday and was killed when his shotgun discharged as it hit the ground. Officers said the accident happened about 35 miles south of here. Mitchell was dead on arrival at an Elaine, Ark., clinic.

Four Negroes in House Fire

RISON, Ark. (AP) - Four Negroes died in a fire which destroyed a four-room farm house six miles northeast of Rison early today.

Their deaths brought to eight the number of fire fatalities in Arkansas this week. The other victims also were Negroes.

Coroner Rufus T. Buie identified today's victims as Henry Alexander, a semi-invalid retired farmer.

Officials were unable to pinpoint origin of the fire but said it may have started from a heater.

They theorized that the victims probably suffocated before being burned.

The nearest neighbor, who lives a quarter-mile away, said the house was in flames when he arrived at the scene.

A Negro man burned to death at Pine Bluff Wednesday and three Negro children died in a house fire near Cotton Plant Wednesday night.

Difficulties Greater Than JFK Thought

EDITOR'S NOTE-Discussing world problems is one thing, trying to solve them another. John F. Kennedy, after making the transition from candidate to President, was not the first to discover this truism-though his lesson may have been unusually dramatic. This is the last of five articles.

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - During his presidential campaign John F. Kennedy often pointed out that, while the Republicans were in control of the White House, the iron curtain had been rolled down in once friendly Cuba.

"If you can't stand up to Castro," Kennedy said in Johnstown, Pa., "how can you be expected to stand up to Khrushchev?"

This is repeated not as a reproof-if presidents were judged by their campaign talk they would all be failures-but as an illustration of how far Kennedy may have underestimated the difficulties in modern international relations.

Not that Kennedy, even when the campaign was hottest, ever took these problems lightly. But example after example can be cited to show that he believed that, with proper diligence, answers favorable to the United States could be found.

Let's look at just a couple more from 1960.

"I am not satisfied with the drift of events today," he said in Granite City, Ill. "I am not satisfied to be reading every day that Khrushchev and Castro and the Chinese are on the upward march. I want to read that the United States is once again asserting its leadership as a great and free country, which offers a ray of hope to all those who wish to follow our example."

Or in Fargo, N.D.: "Can you tell me anywhere in a crisis, from Cuba to the Congo to Laos, where the United States has been ahead of events?"

For a man who had hoped to control the tide of history, the Cuban fiasco must have been a bitter blow, as any president ever received in what, theoretically, was a time of peace.

It shocked and dismayed his friends.

It loaded his enemies with ready-made ammunition, although a few rushed out to shoot during such a critical time for the nation. One prominent Republican, who never had liked the Kennedy picture of infallibility, commented recently that "Cuba was a godsend."

Those who believed that U.S. intervention in Cuba was immoral blamed Kennedy for being mixed up in it.

Those who wanted action blamed him for not following up with the strength that would have made the invasion successful.

Communists and many who weren't Communists at all claimed this as fresh evidence that Uncle Sam is an imperialist meddler, never to be trusted.

Out of this, one haunting question continues to arise: Hit with such a disaster so early in his term, has Kennedy been more timid, afraid of even mild risks, burned.

The nearest neighbor, who lives a quarter-mile away, said the house was in flames when he arrived at the scene.

A Negro man burned to death at Pine Bluff Wednesday and three Negro children died in a house fire near Cotton Plant Wednesday night.

LAC Takes Up Trade School

LITTLE ROCK (AP)-The Legislative Joint Audit Committee meets today to discuss the state's trade school program.

In an interview Thursday, state Education Commissioner Arch Ford recommended a wide expansion of the program, saying it provides a needed service since almost one-third of high school students drop out of school before graduation.

Ford said an active trade school than he might otherwise have been?

A man close to Kennedy insists the answer is no, but that he has made sure it never happens again.

Those around Kennedy maintain this nation is doing much better internationally than is generally thought.

They make these points:

If Laos and the Congo remain as dangerous as ever, at least the Communists haven't taken over.

If Castro is still boss of Cuba, a more active interest in South America has helped to stem the spread of Castroism there.

If Berlin remains unsolved, intricate proings for solutions continue. Or, in the words of a White House assistant: "We're a long way from out of the woods, but at least we have some basis for negotiations."

Gal 2 Report on Kennedy

If the international situation remains critical, the military has been strengthened-two-thirds of all money added to the budget has been in this area-and a start has been made on civil defense.

Yet even in its most favorable light, all this isn't seizing the initiative. And nearly all these explanations could have been made a year ago as well as now.

As Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, said in the Senate on Sept. 21: "What has happened that permits Khrushchev to act as he does? Let me repeat: What has happened that lets him do it?"

"Understand me, please. Not what he is doing. We know that only too well. Our national honor bears the scars and stains of what he is doing now and has done in the past. And he has warned us, arrogantly, of what he intends to do in the future, which is even worse. These things we know."

"But today-now-why does he feel free to do as he does? Why?"

Mrs. Smith's questions sound like a paraphrase of Kennedy's campaign talk. That they still are asked a year after the campaign shows how hard it is to find acceptable answers.

Perhaps none of us fully realizes how radically the presidency has changed.

William McKinley once commented to a visitor that, since he hadn't looked at the map, he had no idea where Manila was.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, during a war truly worldwide, had few thoughts about most of Africa.

Even Dwight D. Eisenhower took office in the pre-space age. All our recent presidents have had to operate in a new, exciting and often bewildering world.

It has turned into a world of megatons, of moon shots, of new nations popping into existence so rapidly professional geographers must be in difficulties.

Whereas foreign affairs once took little of a president's time, they now threaten to consume all of it.

Whenever administration officials are asked why Kennedy has not pushed harder for his domestic program, or why he has not explained his-and the nation's-problems to the people more fully, the answer always is: The President is too tied up with foreign affairs.

There's no way to determine whether Kennedy really is this occupied, or whether this reply is designed to cut off further questioning. After all, Eisenhower had heavy foreign burdens, too.

But no one can doubt the enormity or the complexity of the problems created by an implacable foe and by Allies of widely differing aims and hopes.

On his recent trip through the West Kennedy tried to explain some of his difficulties in foreign affairs.

"We must face problems," he said in Seattle, "which do not lend themselves to easy, quick or permanent solutions."

"And we must face the fact that the United States is neither omnipotent nor omniscient, that we cannot always impose our will on the other 94 per cent of mankind, that we cannot right every wrong or reverse each adversity, and that therefore there cannot be an American solution for every world problem."

This is a far different tone than he used while campaigning in Johnstown or Granite City or Fargo.

But responsibility is often humbling.

And to close this evaluation of the President let's turn to a top Republican, harshly critical in other areas, who said: "In times of crisis, you're first concerned about your family, your own existence. He is the President of us all, and his success is your success. You have got to wish him well."

Pine Bluff Gets a New Plant

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) - A new plant to manufacture upholstered furniture will open in a building at the Pine Bluff arsenal on Jan. 15, it was announced today.

Robert M. Meyer, president of the Status Furniture Manufacturing Co., Inc., said 55 persons would be employed initially.

Employment is expected to rise to 100 by the second year of operation, he said.

The company will use about 10,000 square feet of floor space.

Meyer did not disclose the overall investment. He said it was "in six figures."

Until Sept. 29 Meyer, who came here four years ago from Chicago, was president of the Imperial Bag and Paper Co. He resigned when the company was sold to Georgia Pacific Corp.

Negro Shot, Boat Taken at Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)-The Coast Guard said a slender Negro who commandeered a 40-foot charter boat today was shot and the vessel captured after it put out to sea.

"He was shot with a rifle, probably by one of the officers chasing him," said a Coast Guard spokesman.

A Coast Guard helicopter and patrol boats sped in pursuit of the stolen craft. The helicopter pilot reported that as he hovered over the head, the captain waved him away, as though the gunman had threatened to shoot if there was interference.

Bob Lowenthal, mate of the Fisherman Reward II, told police he saw the Negro point a gun at Capt. Richard Gledhill and Mate Jack Harrington of the cruiser San Dona.

"He told them, 'Get going, and I'm not kidding,'" Lowenthal said.

Lowenthal called police.

program which doesn't interfere with either public schools or colleges is part of a well-balanced education program.

The 1961 Legislature authorized a second trade school to supplement the present one at Pine Bluff, but the Board of Education hasn't designated the site.

At once miles away and directly in Margaret's ear, Hilary had begun to shriek.

"There couldn't have been a man," repeated Margaret, in command of herself again five minutes later. "Hilary, your windows are too high for anyone to look in."

Hilary gave her a look of scarlet and belligerent contempt. "People stand on things to look in windows, and the light was out."

"And what was your light doing out?"

There was a bird in the pear tree, Hilary said, and it kept squawking. She had thought-her came the righteous note - that maybe some other bird was trying to take its nest. So she had turned off her light and gotten the flashlight-

"What flashlight?"

"I found it," said Hilary-and she had tried to hypnotize the bird or birds into silence by aiming the beam up into the tree. She didn't know how she had dropped the flashlight, but it went out when it hit the ground. She was starting back to turn on her light again when a sound made her look back at the window, and there he was. Not all of him, just his eyes under his big hat.

Margaret's stomach dropped briefly. She had to remind herself that Julio Garcia was dead, that this was a country of big hats, that workmen on their way to somewhere often walked through the field behind the house and, presumably, back again. One of them might easily have been curious about the flashlight beam, straddled the wire fence, come up to the house-

She opened the window, feeling the night air like ice on her hot body; unhooked the screen, leaned over to look out. Off to the left, the very edge of something pale and square. A concrete building block? She had seen some once in the angle of the house, but not this near the window.

"I told you," said Hilary peevishly as Margaret stepped back into the lighted safety of the room and locked the window. "Are you going to call the police?"

It was a question she had asked herself-but what would she say to the police? "A man looked in the window." No, she hadn't seen him herself, a little girl had. If they came at all, which was doubtful, they would take one look at Hilary and depart.

"No," said Margaret, and Hilary gave her a look of indignation.

Weather Lets Hogs Get in a Practice

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - The weather cleared enough Thursday for the Arkansas Razorbacks to take their Sugar Bowl preparations outdoor, but the mud was so heavy on the practice field that they didn't get much done.

Of much value was a "passing drill," in which quarterbacks Billy Moore and George McKinney and halfbacks Lance Alworth and Paul Dudley were the stars, Coach Frank Broyles said.

But otherwise, Broyles added, the practice session wasn't successful.

The coach said the Hogs would try to work outside again today and Saturday, weather permitting. They have been confined to Barnhill Field House all week because of rain, snow, sleet and below-freezing temperatures.

The field house, usually a pretty good place to practice, makes a poor site for grid workouts now, though, because the huge portable basketball bleachers are set up for cage games.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

By J. R. Williams with Major Hoople

COME ON, GOLDIE, WE GOT A GREAT IDEA! I KNOW WHERE THERE'S A FIELD OF CHRISTMAS TREES WE CAN CUT FER 50 CENTS APIECE--IF WE CAN FIND A GOOD LOCATION, AN' IF WE CAN SELL 'EM FER 2, WE CAN GET RID OF 'EM. BE 20, AN'...
WAIT A MINUTE--GOLDIE! ME OUT! THERE'S TOO MANY 'IFS' IN THAT DEAL!
OWOO! WE SKIP OVER THE 'IFS' AN' HE DAVILLS ON THE 'IFS'! CAUSE HE'S OUT, TOO! CAUSE HE'S JUST CHANGED ME FROM AN ENTHUSIASTIC GAMBLER TO A PESSIMISTIC BUSINESS MAN!
HAVEN'T SOLD ANY TREES YET, BUT I GOT SOME NICE POTATOES BAKIN' IN 'TH FIRE! A LADY COME IN THIS MORNING AN' ASK ME IF I'D SAVE HER 'TH BRANCHES WHAT WE TRIM OFF 'TH TREES--SHE SAID SHE WANTS TO USE 'EM FOR DECORATIN'--BUT SHE LOOKED SO TIGHT TO ME, I'LL BET SHE'D NAIL 'EM TO A BROOM. HANDLE TO MAKE HER OWN CHRISTMAS TREE!
UM-M-M, I WONDER, SNUFFY, IF I BOUGHT 200 OF THEM! STILL, IT'S EARLY YET--THE RUSH WILL START IN A FEW DAYS--UM--BUT 200 TREES! MY WORD!
OH, WELL, LET'S TRY ONE OF YOUR BAKED POTATOES!

THE STORY OF MARTHA WAYNE

By Wilson Scruggs

I HATE MAKING A PEST OF MYSELF, MARTHA, BUT I'M DESPERATE!
WHAT IS IT, DRYSDALE? WHAT'S HAPPENED?
THELMA IS LEAVING FOR RENO TOMORROW. I'VE TRIED TO TALK TO HER. SHE WON'T LISTEN.
I'LL GET MY COAT... AND START REHEARSING THE MOST IMPORTANT SPEECH I'LL EVER MAKE!

A Closer Walk With God

Will Lead You Right Straight to Church

Carol Singing

... the time of year when spirits are gay and when voices blend in adoration for an event nearly 2000 years old ... the birthday of our Lord. The warmth of Christmas

Carols rolling out over hill and dale quickens the spirits of men as no other season of singing does. Then sing your Carols. Give out with your Noels. Of course it is Hallelujah time, but on His Natal Day may we celebrate with joyful reverence.

We may sing our Carols, but may we also be serious in our jubilation.

You In The Church The Church In You

— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

The Churches of This Community, Are the Only Institutions Which Have as Their Main Function, the Transforming of Human Lives
They Are the Sign Boards Pointing the Way to God.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through this series of pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted . . . to combat
Communism on all front . . . to be faithful to God.

Our Ministers Are God's Servants Who Call the Signals Against the Organized Forces of Evil. They Invite You to Enlist On the Side For God. . . to Come to Church.
